GAME WAS CALLED;
SCORE WAS TIEDNeither Richmond Nor Savannah
Succeeded in Wrestling the Victory Yesterday.

SPECTATORS NOT SATISFIED

Looked as if Close Score Might Have Been Fixed Thing.

RICHMOND and Savannah played to a standstill yesterday afternoon, the score in the ninth inning being 3 to 3. Umpires Moss and Lally thought it wise to call it a draw, and the spectators, who were not in the mood to play any longer, and called the game. To the spectators, it was not a draw, and one or two more innings could have been played all right.

There were many in the grand-stand, and in the bleachers who thought the game was "fixed." It had a reputation of this when Richmond scored three runs in the seventh inning and tied the score. One hit was made in the ninth. Before that time, the score was 3 to 3. Two runs had walked and two were out when the ninth came. And then, with a runner on second and another on third, Steve knocked a ball into the air and Morris, the short stop for the Savannah team, caught it. The third and trying run came across. Richmond wanted to see the Richmond win the game, but it was a poor way for victory to come.

Shaffer Makes Errors.

Manager Charles Shaffer, who has played almost all his first base all this season, made two such errors in the second inning, and was directly responsible for three runs made by the visitors. His two errors, coupled with that Long, the twelfth, made, sent the three runners over the plate and dropped the percentage in the Richmond column.

In the seventh inning it looked dark for the Savannahs, but at this stage the Richmond pitcher, second night, and the game was tied. Morris was tied with losing it. If Savannah really wanted to take the game, Shaffer really came to Savannah, however, and Morris was only relatively better than over the plate and dropped the percentage in the Richmond column.

JACK O'BRIEN WILL MEET TOMMY BURNSFight will be Forty-Round Affair for Purse of $20,000 and Heavyweight Championship Title—Will Take Place Near Los Angeles.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., September 14.

Heavyweight Jack O'Brien has postponed his trip because he has been matched with Tommy Burns for a contest of forty rounds and a purse of $20,000. The affair will take place at Arcadia, near Los Angeles, and the prize money will be furnished by the Arcadia Athletic Club, of which "Lucky" Baldwin is a prominent member.

When O'Brien received news of the Arcadia offer, he said:

"That settles it. The match with Bill Squires in Melbourne can stand over. I will stay here now, even if the go with Burns hangs fire for a few days. When he is so anxious to meet me, and the Arcadians are so willing to hang up a $20,000 purse, something must come of it. Burns, I understand, has cut up $10,000 for a side bet of $5,000. The promoters are strangers to me. But if they will place the purse with the Los Angeles Examiner I will cover Burns's fight, and the match is on. As to the division of the purse, I will leave that to Burns, with the understanding that the winner receive not less than 15 per cent. If he wishes we will fight on a winner-take-all basis."

The terms of O'Brien's acceptance were wired to Los Angeles and within an hour news was received that the Arcadia Club would post a certified check for $20,000 to the Los Angeles Examiner before 1 o'clock to-day. The promoters will leave the selection of the day to the pugilists, and O'Brien stipulates that the contest take place within the next two months. The only terms imposed by the club are that the articles will provide for forty rounds if necessary, and that the contest must be for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Tex Rickard, who was in company with O'Brien when the Arcadia offer reached the Philadelphia heavyweight, said:

"I am prepared to back you, Jack, for $10,000 and will cover that amount just as soon as the Burns side cares to produce."

To this O'Brien replied:

"You can bet as much as you like, Mr. Rickard, as long as it does not interfere with my side wager of $5,000 with Burns. That is to be part of our agreement, and I do not want anything to conflict with it. What I mean is that I must get my own $5,000 wagered first before I help any one else to place his bet."

Series of Football Articles.

A new and exceptionally interesting feature of the sporting section of The Times-Dispatch to-morrow will be the first of a series of football articles, written by Sol Metzger, a former captain of the Pennsylvania University eleven, and a well-known authority on gridiron affairs.

Mr. Metzger was graduated from Andover Academy in 1899, where he was a member of the track team. Entering Pennsylvania the following fall he played full back and was elected captain of his freshman team. Next year he was a substitute for the Varsity team, but it was not until his third year that he was able to make the team. His playing the two following years attracted the attention of the college world, for he was one of the lightest and best ends on any of the teams, and it earned for him the captaincy of the Pennsylvania team for the season of 1903.

Mr. Metzger will cover several of the great games for The Times-Dispatch, and in addition will contribute each week a critical review of the work of the teams, with particular reference to the new rules, the inauguration of which will make the present season notable in football history.
